

The moment I realised I was actually standing here was one of the most magical moments in my entire life. It felt so unreal that I had to make sure I'm not dreaming. London was a dream come true and I felt incredibly happy to be there. This picture was taken by my friend when I was admiring the beauty of Big Ben. (Natálie Vyvlečková, 9.B)

The journey to England was very long and we were really tired. When we got to Eastbourne, everyone was exhausted. The next day, we had classes and in the afternoon we went on a trip. All the trips were really amazing. We were in Brighton, Hastings and other places. The last day we travelled to London where we saw lots of famous sights but The London eye was the best. The photo is the view from it. The holiday in England was really exciting. (Daniela Pjatkanová, 8.C)

A bunch of young Jedi from the star district of Kroměříž, disguised as normal citizens, embarked on a secret mission to a remote enemy hideout in Britain, when suddenly they encountered their main nemesis Darth Wader. He was most likely buying some lego to build with his autistic son. Not to get caught by him, they tried to become friends in which they succeeded by giving him money, and later they even took picture with him. (Radim Sklenář, 9.C)

The Beachy head is beautiful but also a very dangerous place that is a part of the Seven Sisters cliffs. It is most likely the third most famous place for suicides. The Seven Sisters cliffs were also used for film shootings where Harry Potter walks up the hill to find the boat that will transport him to the Quidditch World Cup. That's why I find the place interesting but also very beautiful. (Nikola Bláhová, 9.A)
